- No sticking
- Special attachment - spray in or on large areas or precisely and with exact metering by means of a hinged spray tube
- Excellent sliding and lubricating effect over many years

DESCRIPTION

Cable lubricant FOAM – silicone-based – reduces friction resistance by up to 40% and thus facilitates the pulling of cables and wires into electrical installation pipes. Application: Spray FOAM cable lubricant directly onto the cable or into the cable duct. The lubricants contained in the product are distributed evenly and enable the cables to be pulled through immediately and with minimal friction. Thanks to a special attachment, the product can be applied either over a large area or – with the spray tube open – in a targeted and measured manner. Shake well before use!

Product features:
Non-flammable
Excellent lubricating and sliding properties
No sticking, no drying out
VOC-free
Long-lasting effect for many years
Drip-free – ideal for clean overhead work

Safety instructions (hazardous substance label H229):
